

CONDOMINIUMS

Won a $5.58 million jury verdict on behalf of several condominium owners against a national engineering firm

Resolved construction defect claims for payment of $1.375 million by the general contractor, developer, and architect to compensate homeowners in an Atlanta condominium for waterproofing and structural problems with the building.